The business traveller could use this website to read about health warnings, entry and visa requirements, and travel advice. ~~This website~~ therefore has its benefits. The following paragraphs will speak of other benefits the website gives and also the disadvantages with it.

Positives. First of all this website grants quicker access^{time} than the old telephoning techniques as the person does not need to be put on hold. They can simply go on the website and access the information they want. Secondly, thanks to the RSS feeds, the user can get news on their phone or email without having to go visit the website. Finally, the user can also submit forms for them to register ~~for~~ ^{contact details} ~~in~~ so that if anything goes wrong, they can query you in their database and contact your ~~emergency~~ ^{emergency} ~~contacts~~ ^{contacts}.

Negatives. As it no longer requires phoning in for information, this direct is losing human to human interactions. Secondly, to access the website, one must have internet connection - same goes for the RSS feeds. Thus, the information cannot be accessed at all times. Finally, the information wanted may not all be there and no one knows how secured the registered ~~the~~ contact details are. Thus, this could affect those people's privacy.

In Conclusion, the quicker access and easily
